PROJECT AGE – The Learning Age

THE NEWS

The University of Cyprus in Nicosia hosted the third international meeting of the 'The Learning Age' project team. The meeting was organised by SEIT Lab.

During the meeting, the project team had the opportunity to exchange experiences from the implementation of workshops and intergenerational meetings, promotion of the project activities and results.

The main objectives of the meeting were to summarise the tasks carried out so far and to plan the next ones, including multiplier events on all project countries.

Project participants took part in workshops and organised intergenerational meetings that improved their digital and social skills. The intergenerational meetings had a positive impact on relationships between seniors and young adults.

WHAT'S NEXT

The next step of the AGE project will focus on finalizing some very special videos whose main characters are seniors. All videos will be made available on a YouTube channel. A link to the playlist will be included in the next number of the AGE newsletter. Do not miss it!
